Galen College, St Bernards and Our Lady’s Primary Schools celebrated Planet Ark National Tree Day on July 25th. Close to 250 students descended on the Galen farmland north of Borinya School to be a part of the Billabongs Landcare Project for the day. With Year 9 Discovery and Borinya students as leaders, the twenty small teams helped with weed eradication and tree planting.

The area is currently the focus for a $20,000 Landcare Grant to restore the flood plain back to a natural environment. A BBQ lunch was cooked by local Rotarians, Ken Craig and David Wohlers, utilising the Rotary kitchen trailer. A big thank-you to both of them.

Students and teachers planted trees indigenous to the Lower Ovens flood plains. Trees were supplied by Park Lane Nursery with financial support from Landcare, The 2 Million Trees Project and the Rural City of Wangaratta.

Gayle South, the Billabongs Project Coordinator, and Ian Minns, Galen Sustainability Coordinator, were impressed by the hard work and enthusiasm shown by the students.

From the Principal

Dear Parents and Guardians,

Last Friday night I had the great pleasure of attending the opening of a rather unique Art Exhibition called “School’s Out”. The reason it was unique is that it was an exhibition of the creative art works of the teaching staff of Galen Catholic College.

Eleven of our teachers from the Arts Domain exhibited a range of works across a wide range of media: oil painting, casting, ceramics, collograph, photography, water colour, ink, pencil, lino print and spray paint.

It is a statement of the obvious to say that as human beings we are multi-faceted, although we can often fail to see more than the most apparent facet. This was really driven home on Friday when the eleven teachers had stepped back from the facet that most of us in the extended Galen Family would usually see – that is, their roles as teachers – and stepped instead into a creative milieu of personal expression in the creation their art works.

What a great opportunity this provides you and your children to see the quality of talent that lies in our teaching staff!

I encourage you to take the opportunity of attending the exhibition which remains open until Sunday September 7 at Atelier d’Art, 109A Murphy Street, Wangaratta.

Santa Teresa

The 2014 Santa Teresa immersion experience group of staff and students left Wangaratta on Friday evening led by staff members Ms Amanda White and Mr Tom Anson. This is the second of our major immersion trips for 2014, with the earlier trip to East Timor (Timor Leste). These trips are the major planks of the Galen Catholic College Social Justice Program which also includes the Caritas Ks event in first term, and the soup van and Illoura visits throughout the year.

We wish the students and staff every success as they venture the Marist school in Santa Teresa in the Northern Territory. While there, they will also catch up with Galen staff member, Ms Nicole Nixon and her family. Nicole is on a short-term placement at Santa Teresa to allow the Santa Teresa parish associate to have a well-earned break.

We at Galen are extremely proud of our commitment to social justice, and of the massive response from students and their families in support of this important work. Our Social Justice program both sows seeds for the future and provides immediate assistance and relief for many who suffer on the margins of our society whether that be locally in north-east, elsewhere in the country or amongst our nearest international neighbours.

Junior Production

The dates for the Junior Production of “Finding Nemo” come ever closer (Monday 25 and Tuesday 26 August). “Break a leg” to all students involved in this musical extravaganza. Once again the amazing drive provided by Ms Julie Nolan, Mr David Ashfield, Mr Paul Walker and Ms Beth Code will ensure that a host of Galen students get the valuable experience of performing on stage at the Wangaratta Performing Arts Centre.

Want to be involved at a deeper level with Galen?

There will be an information evening for all parents who might be interested in having a deeper involvement with the direction and focus of the college on Wednesday September 10 at 7pm in the Max Fletcher Auditorium (enter directly off Phillipson Street). In particular, this Information Night will provide an insight into the role and purpose of the Galen Catholic College Board and the ways in which parents might join either the Board or one of its working sub-committees.

The Galen Board is an important part of the governance structure at Galen Catholic College. It has primary responsibility for the strategic direction and policies of the college.

Interested parents are asked to contact the Personal Assistant to the Principal, Ms Tess Barnard, at the college to receive more details.

Best wishes,

Bernard Neal
Principal

Attention Parents

Important Notice: Phillipson Street parking for student pick up and drop off

A reminder to all parents and guardians who use the Phillipson Street entrance to drop off and pick up their children, it is a NO STANDING area and parents should not park there. The Galen entrance at Phillipson street receives 14 buses daily to drop off and pick up students. If parents park on Phillipson street to drop off or pick up their child this creates a very dangerous environment for our students. Last week council parking inspectors positioned themselves at Phillipson Street and booked 9 parents for parking in a NO STANDING Zone – the fine is a cost of $144. The parking inspectors have informed the school that they will continue to monitor Galen at Phillipson Street as they want to deter parents from parking their vehicles in a high traffic area.

Thank you for your ongoing support in this important matter.

Kind regards,

Patrick Arcuri
Deputy Principal – Staff & Students

Upcoming Junior Production

There is great excitement during our after school rehearsals as we approach Production Week. The Junior Production is utilised as a great educational tool for our school. With the Junior Production, students from Year 10 are given the opportunity to take on leadership roles as directors and choreographers. I am always very impressed with both the enthusiasm and skill level shown by these student leaders. The performers (students from Years 7-9) all enjoy working with their peers and respect each of them.

Nemo’s Adventure is the story of the little fish Nemo who gets lost at sea. His Father begins the epic journey in order to locate him. Along the way he meets some wonderful sea creatures, sea turtles, sharks, jelly fish and who could ever forget Dory as Nemo who swims around in his new fish tank, he is convinced that he will never see his dad again. Can Nemo be found? Come along to the Galen Junior Production to find out!

Indonesian Exchange Students

For the past 3 weeks, Galen has been hosting Aziz and Fadly who hail from Southern Sumatra, Indonesia. They have been involved with the Year 9 program and have been enjoying lots of new experiences with their host families (the Amery and Christy families) as well as making lifelong friends. In this this issue of Reflections, Aziz shares his experiences:

For me Galen is very different from my school in Indonesia, my friends are way more friendly here and they always say “Hi Aziz” or “Gday Aziz” and so does the teachers. Galen is better than my school in Indonesia. The lesson is a little bit easier, and it’s a little bit more fun to learn. For example; mathematics, I hate math so much in Indonesia, but when I study it here, its like, its easier. The next difference is the building; the building is way more colorful than the one I went to in Indonesia. I think the school environment is one of the factor that makes me relax and happy when I study here. The next different is the time. We start our school at 7am in the morning and finished around 2 or 3, and we still go to school on Saturdays. That’s why I hate Saturdays in Indonesia. But in here we start at 8.50am and school ends around 3.29pm. The best thing that I like about Galen is they lend me a Macbook by Apple! I want to learn here until Year 12, its great in here. I wish I could stay longer but I couldn’t. I like Galen, I will never forget this moment in my life, not everybody have the chance to learn here. Thank you Galen, for everything you have given to me, your lesson, your fun, your friendly students, your kind yet strict teachers.

How to Manage Stress

Stress is not always bad. At times stress energises and motivates us helping us to perform at our optimum level. The release of stress hormones is our bodies natural survival response when we face a challenge. However, too much stress can interfere with clear thinking and reduce the effectiveness of our immune system. We all experience stress so some ways to manage our stress are as follows:

1. Distraction: Take your mind off the problem. Go for a short walk, listen to your favourite song, phone a friend, revisit your funniest emails.

2. Reduce caffeine: Caffeine promotes the release of adrenaline, the very hormone we are trying to reduce. So less coffee, tea, cola, chocolate and definitely no energy drinks.

3. Food for stress: Small protein snacks such as a handful of almonds, a boiled egg, a serve of brown rice and tuna maintains our blood sugar levels so stabilises mood. Some herbal remedies such as St John’s Wort, chamomile, lavender, oats, ginseng and licorice can also help.

4. Breathe: When we are stressed our breathing becomes more shallow. Consciously take a few deep breaths and this will maintain regular, steady breathing and restore a feeling of calm.

5. Affirmations: positive self-talk such as ‘I always cope, just breathe and relax’; ‘All will be well’ can manage negative thoughts that sometimes accompany stress.

6. Talk: Vent to a friend or family member. Talk through the problem and even if they can’t find a solution simply being heard and understood by someone who cares for you will help.

7. Cocooning: If you feel completely overwhelmed place both palms gently on either side of your face and rest your fingers gently on closed eyelids. This works to quieten the mind and can help to regain focus.

8. Seek Help: If stress and anxiety feels like it is taking over your life talk things through with a member of our wellbeing team.

Variety is the spice of life

Some curious people I have met so far in Australia asked me about the differences between Australia and Italy. Now that a few months have gone by since I arrived in the Kangaroo Land, I can tell that the differences are in the simplest things, precisely where you wouldn’t look. For instance… The sky!

What am I talking about? Am I crazy? No, ladies and gentlemen, I am not. Regarding the differences between Australia and Italy, the first thing I can think of is the sky.

In Italy the sky seems smaller, closer and finite, more ‘real’ (to me of course, who has accustomed looking at it day by day, since I was born). On the other hand, the Australian sky appears larger, infinite and ‘unreal’, which means that it makes me think of cartoons, like the sort of sky you can watch on The Simpsons. Yeah, now you are probably thinking “this girl is insane!” And maybe you are right! But I never saw a real deep-red sunset but here. And more: let’s think about the sky at night, full of bright stars. Franco once told me that here the “stars seem to fall on top of you, and you can almost touch them”. Well, he was right. They are and you can. In Italy is not like this, as cities are too well lit, and see the light of the stars is hard (it would be easier for you going far from cities, like in the countryside or on mountains, but stars are still far and ‘not- touchable’).

Other common differences are about the driving lane, the food, the population, and the tourism. The driving lane and the food are different; everyone knows that, so an explanation is not necessary. Regarding the population, I think Italy is more multi-ethnic than Australia, as there you can meet people from all over the world (Europe, America, Asia, Middle East, Africa). What about the tourism? As you know Italy is famous for Art and History, and these are our point of strength in matter of tourism; less popular is the naturalistic kind which is certainly Australia’s point of strength, as here the nature is still wild, the naturalistic landscapes are amazing and “untouched”. Essentially, if you are looking for a real adventure into the wild, well Australia is the place for you. However, if you are interested in knowing the beauty of Belle Arti and want to jump back into the past taking a walk exactly where the ancients used to, well you have Italy for that!

I think that seeing different places and meeting different cultures is a chance that anyone should have, as it allows you to grow up, have new experiences, and become a more complete person. Regarding differences, Italians like to say “il mondo è bello perché è vario”, which in English is better known as “variety is the spice of life”.

My impressions of Australia

Since I arrived here in Australia, I quickly noticed how much countries can be different, in particular Italy and Australia. From little insignificant things like the weather to the bigger ones like the countryside, the cities etc.

When I first met my host family I was very excited and they have all been very kind and friendly towards me. Soon after I arrived, I started at Galen and the first day all the Australian guys came to introduce themselves to me and helped me to go to lessons. They are always so kind, friendly and nice with us exchange students and they make me feel very cheerful. Every day I have new experiences I have seen for the first time incredible places. I have tasted different food. There is always something to learn and there are always amazing surprises for me. I’m finding Australia so wonderful that I can’t even find words to describe and define it. I’m having such a beautiful experience here... It’s like a marvelous holiday (even if I attend school) and unfortunately the time is literally flying away.

It is a beautiful country and people here are easy-going and so lovely that I feel like I’m at home. It is a real pleasure meeting people like this. I can’t thank my host family enough for the opportunity they have given me and what they are still doing for me. One day I really hope I will come back to Australia because I’ve been left fascinated by everything and who knows what the future holds for me. Maybe I could come to live here one day.

Galen Billabong Project

A key component of the restoration of the flood plains north of Galen will be the creation of nesting boxes to encourage more native wildlife to take up residence on the site.

Students in Discovery classes at Year 9, Borinya students and the wider Galen community will be involved. The first community night on Monday August 11th was well attended by families from Galen and St Bernard’s Primary School.

Galen staff, Robbie Parsons and Mark Townsend from the Wood Technology Department had pre-cut components for construction and set out other materials and tools. Discovery teachers, Paul Walker and Ian Minns assisted families as well with over 12 boxes completed and painted.

The next family session will be on Monday August 25th.
Contact: ian.minns@galen.vic.edu.au if your family is interested in helping.

Over the past couple of weeks, students from Year 8, 10, 11 and 12 have been treated to a series of fine performances, presented by the Complete Works Theatre Company. Linking in to their respective areas of study, each performance provided insight into texts and provided a lively interpretation of plot, characters and meaning. Feedback from the students was widely positive, and classes were highly engaged in each of the performances delivered. The first in the series was ‘Life of Galileo’, presented in an abridged version with explanations given, by the actors, about the text, between scenes. At the conclusion of the session some lively discussion of themes and ideas took place, designed to affirm and enrich the students’ knowledge of the text. Speaking to a number of Year 12s after the event, they were equally impressed and inspired in the lead up to their SAC.

Likewise, the Year 11 presentation of Macbeth proved a timely conclusion to their study of this text. Re-enacted in an appropriately more somber tone, students were able to capture the mood and motivations of a classic play they had only experienced through reading. To actually see Shakespearean theatre performed gave them an understanding of the depth of the characters and story they have been studying in class. The same can be said for the performance of Romeo and Juliet to Year 10. Sandwiched between two offerings of Shakespeare, was a poetry recital with a difference, presented to Year 8. A mixture of song and spoken verse, from traditional and contemporary poets demonstrated the richness of Australian culture embedded in the works of poets from Banjo Patterson to the Hilltop Hoods. Students shared the humour and despair of the gritty and sardonic lives of Australians to develop a deeper appreciation of the power of words in lyrical form.

Overall, this series of dramatic performances provided Galen English students with a great opportunity to deepen their knowledge and experience a ‘real world’ representation of the written word, as the texts they studied were brought to life before them.

Senior Boys Hume Region Soccer

Galen played against Kilmore in the first game and won 7 - 0. Goalscorers were Jack Roachford 2, Lachlan Busk 1, Brayden Mountney 1, James McClounan 1 and Aaron Taylor 1. Best players were Daniel Bannister, Brayden Mountney, James McClounan and Aaron Taylor.

In the second game we played in the final against Shepparton High School. After a very challenging first half Galen took the lead from a great run and shot by Brayden Mountney on the wing. Coach Mr Arcuri asked the boys to control the midfield in the second half as Shepp High were strong in this area.

Unfortunately for the Galen team they had no substitutions and this proved to be a disadvantage as the Shepp High team began to expose the lack of fitness. Despite some great defending from the likes of Tim Feehan, Alex McIntosh, Daniel Bannister and goal keeper Josh Taylor, Shepp High scored two late goals in the final 10 minutes of the game to win the final.

A big thank-you to Issac Smith for assisting the team as well as Ryley Pasquali for his support as linesman and manager.

Year 7 Girls Hume Netball

Congratulations to the Year 7 girls netball team who convincingly won the Hume Region Championships played in Wangaratta on the 21st August. All of the girls played well, but Annabelle Creed and Jade Elliot were voted the best players on the day. The girls have qualified to play State level netball in Melbourne on 1st September, a fantastic achievement. Thanks to Mrs Jennie Annett and Tess Rowland who helped coach the girls on the day.

Brayden motors to 2nd place finish

Congratulations to Year 10 student Brayden White who placed 2nd at the recent Victorian Titles in Motocross. Brayden competed against a strong field of 15 competitors across three races at the course at Blue Rock, which is north of Moe. We wish Brayden all the best at future race meets!
Social Justice - Sandhurst Diocese Winter Sleepout

On Thursday 7th August, four students from Galen - Isabella Simmons, Brearna Antonello, Tom Metcalfe and Emma Gamble went to the Sandhurst diocese winter sleepout at Echuca. At 3.30pm on Thursday afternoon, the four students along with Miss Banks drove to St. Josephs College, Echuca. When the group got to the school, they registered and gathered up with all the other schools from the Sandhurst Diocese and played some games to get to know the people from other schools. Once the games had been played, all of the schools gathered in the hall and a prayer liturgy was run by some students from St. Josephs College, Echuca. Then, Sheridin from St. Lukes, Echuca spoke to all the sleepout participants about youth homelessness. Sheridin’s job involves working with homeless youth, trying to get them into accommodation, whether that be staying with friends or family to getting a foster family. She raised the issues for getting accommodation for homeless youth, such as that there is not enough accommodation to cater for the amount of homeless youth. Then, Cheyne, from St. Vincent de Paul, talked to the participants of the sleepout about what Vinnies do to help homeless youth and about the homeless Vincent de Paul, talked to the participants of the sleepout about what Vinnies do to help homeless youth and about the homeless youth figures. The figures for youth homelessness shocked all the people listening. The participants learnt that it is important not just to give hand outs to the homeless, but also a hand up. Afterwards, everyone went and set up their ‘beds’ for the night, which consisted of a cardboard box, flattened and used as a mattress, a sleeping bag and a pillow. Everyone then went to two workshops that ran for half an hour each. The workshops gave a good insight into what sort of resources are available for the homeless and what sort of things are done to help the homeless. Then everyone went over to the school canteen and got a bowl of soup, bread and Milo, cooked and provided by the St. Vincent de Paul Society. Then everyone had dessert, which was biscuits. After everyone had finished eating, all the participants gathered in the hall to settle in for some entertainment. This was provided by students from St. Josephs College, Echuca, who sang and played instruments. After the entertainment, everyone went to bed. The night was quite mild and it was quite a comfortable night. In the morning, everyone woke up at 6.00am and had breakfast which consisted of Milo, toast and biscuits. All the participants then packed up their beds and got ready for the day. Afterwards, everyone separated into three different groups to do three different morning ‘wake-up’ activities. These were meditation, pilates and a run along the river. After that, the Galen students left and arrived back at school at recess. The students that participated in the sleepout would like to thank Miss. Banks for taking them to Echuca and braving the cold. They would also like to thank all the other teachers involved in organising the Galen students to go to the sleepout. The sleepout was a very worthwhile experience and it was good to be in solidarity with the homeless.
